Putting on the Brakes

Thank God for Brakes

Thank God for Brakes by Robert M. Abbott, an excerpt from the book; Hedges Loving Your Marriage Enough to Protect It by; Jerry B. Jenkins

“None of us plan[s] to have moral accidents, but must also plan not to! Danger rides with us all the time.” Robert M. Abbott.

THANK GOD FOR BRAKES;

- When you are so busy there is no time to be alone with God.
- When you are too busy to spend at least one relaxed evening a week with your wife and family.
- When you feel you deserve more attention than you are getting at home.
- When you wouldn't want your wife [or a colleague] to see what you are reading or looking at.
- When the romance in your marriage is fading.
- When your charisma, appearance, and personality are attractive to women, and you are tempted to make the most of it.
- When you enjoy fantasizing about an illicit relationship.
- When a woman makes herself available by her behavior.
- When some woman tells you how wonderful you are and how much she loves you.
- When scriptures concerning adultery are for others, not you.
- When you start feeling sorry for yourself.
- When you hope God isn't looking or listening.

Thank You!
